Another Childhood Fable Vanishes
'Headline' Aspects of Education

The new book "Admiral of the Ocean Sea: A Life of Christopher Columbus," by Samuel Eliot Morison (Little, Brown & Co., Boston, 1942), is an expert, adult appraisal of the man to whom every schoolboy is introduced at the earliest age.

But Morison's work tears a lot of pages out of the elementary textbooks. Says he:

"Of all the vulgar errors connected with Columbus, the most persistent and the most absurd is that he had to convince people 'the world was round'. Every educated man in his day believed the world to be a sphere, every European university so taught geography, and seamen, though they might doubt the practical possibility of sailing 'down under' or holding on when you got there, knew perfectly well from seeing ships 'hull-down' and 'raising' mountains as they approached, that the surface of the globe was curved."

But historians writing for the adult public usually disclose that much elementary education is compressed for dramatic "teaching" effect into what might be called a "headline course." The first object when introducing Columbus to the juvenile reader is to emphasize his courage in taking the first voyage out into the trackless wastes of the Atlantic in 1492. Picturing humanity as believing even in 1492 that the world was flat—when the true facts had been known for hundreds of years—was simply a textbook's "headline manner" of "selling" Columbus to the juvenile public.

Morison's book, however, does strengthen immeasurably the world's picture of Christopher Columbus. He is writing not only with all the original documents of Columbus' life before him, and all the books previously published on that subject, but with the further facts developed by the Harvard Columbus Expedition which in the barkentine Capitana and the ketch Mary Otis retraced in 1939-40 the Atlantic routes originally followed by the Discoverer.

Most interesting of Morison's chapters is his analysis of the jealousies and disputes raised by Columbus' contemporaries after he had actually discovered America. Says Morison:

"As von Humboldt cynically remarked, there are three stages in the popular attitude toward a great discovery: first men doubt its existence, next they deny its importance, and finally they give the credit to someone else."

After services Friday night the Young Peoples and Intermediate departments will "get together" in the Educational Building. The public is invited to attend the revival.

Allied Position in Indian Ocean Strengthened

LONDON —(P)—Prospects of a swift cleanup of Vichy-ordered resistance in Madagascar and the arrival of strong imperial reinforcements in strategic Ceylon put the United Nations in a better position Friday for a rapidly nearing test with the Japanese on the Indian Ocean supply lines to India, China and Soviet Russia.

As weary British land forces in western Burma held back the invaders, already close to Bengal border, long range U. S. bombers lashed out anew Friday at Rangoon, Japanese-held stepping stone for a western drive.

Major General Brerton's big war birds plunged through Japanese fighter planes opposition for their eight aces near Rangoon and returned safely to bases in India. A New Delhi communique reported.

British military quarters meanwhile conceded that the Japanese probably had won another base for operation in the Indian ocean—the west Burma port of Akyab, 360 miles from Calcutta.

Announcement of the British reinforcements of Ceylon off the southern tip of India said "seasoned fighters who took part in the Ethiopian campaign of 1940-41" had been sent to the island.

There was no immediate information as to the extent of resistance of Madagascar after collapse of the main French stand at the northern tip of the island.

It was apparent that Britain would not rest with patrol of the big Diego Suarez naval base but would make other landings or inland drives to obtain French airbases to the south unless the entire French defense force came to terms.

No Damage in Fire at O. A. Graves Home

No damage resulted from a fire in a flu at the home of O. A. Graves, early Friday morning, the Hope Fire Department reported.

Suit in the flu caught fire, filling the house with smoke.

War Times Have Cut Down Usual Overflow of People in State University Town

Editor's Note: How is the war affecting the Arkansas home front? To answer this question, The Associated Press asked the editors of the AP member papers to describe conditions in their communities. This is another in that exclusive series.

Northwest Arkansas Times

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Fayetteville isn't happy.

Schooled to take care of a big influx of out-of-town people at University of Arkansas football games, farmers' weeks, 4-H club camps and invitation track and literary meets, Fayetteville citizens feel that it would be a breeze to house workers from a nearby defense or war plant, or officers' families from a nearby army camp.

But Fayetteville and Northwest Arkansas not only haven't won or placed by securing a plant or camp, but also have NOT got into the show by securing anything between a plant or camp and nothing.

There was some talk of placing a number of army or navy trainees on the Itazorbach campus, but University and government officials couldn't get together on just how many or how few to send here. So none came.

Chinese Claim 2 Jap Forces Killed, Trapped

CHUNGKING —(P)—Claiming a smashing defeat over two Japanese columns driving into China along the Burma road a Chinese communique declared Friday night that one force of 1000 Japanese was wiped out and that half of another unit of 1000 was killed and the rest trapped.

Jap Claim Successes
TOKYO —(P)—Imperial Tokyo headquarters announced Friday the occupation of Lungling, 50 miles beyond Wanting where the Burma road crosses the Chinese frontier into Yunnan Province. Japanese forces took over the town Tuesday, it was said.

(This represents an advance of 25 miles beyond the invasion penetration to Chefang which was acknowledged Thursday in Chungking capital of Free China.)

An official announcement said Japanese forces occupied Bhamo, head of the Irrawaddy river navigation in Burma, Sunday.

The newspaper Asahi said the fall of Corregidor giving Japan use of the Manila Bay would "strengthen her greatly for further operations in the Indian ocean."

"Double aims of these operations," the newspaper said "is to accelerate the breakdown of the British empire and help India in her efforts of independence."

"The next task will be occupation of Ceylon naval ports of which Princecomalee already has been exposed to intensified raids."

Says Torpedo Boats Could Destroy Japs

NEW YORK —(P)—Lt. John E. Bulkeley whose torpedo boats in the Philippine chased some of the brightest pages in recent naval history came home from the war Friday and opined that with a couple of hundred torpedo boats the U. S. could sweep the Japanese from the sea.

Nutrition Class to See Picture

The food and nutrition class group will view a showing of the sound motion picture, meat and romance, produced for the National livestock and meat board, a non-profit organization, representing the entire livestock and meat industry at Educational Building back of the court house on Friday, May 8 at 7 p. m.

This motion picture is the result of collaboration between authorities in the meat and live stock industries and the United States Bureau of Home Economics in Washington.

The claim is made that the entire subject of meat, its values and costs according to cuts, the proper methods of its cooking, of its serving and carving, as well as its relative nutritional properties, has never been so thoroughly or so convincingly covered in any one presentation.

This sound picture, partly in color, is as entertaining as it is instructive. It tells the story of a young married couple who solve the problem of meal planning and of making the food dollar go farther. Judicious buying and varying the meat courses of the dinner, all with economy, are highlighted.

Much misinformation about meat is corrected with authoritative support. Audiences receive the benefit of the best advice about the cooking of meat, the relative merits of low and high temperature cooking, the variances required for different types and cuts of meat for best results.

The place of meat in the diet of infants and young children is also well covered. Women will enjoy the sections that explain how they may retain their figures without starving themselves. Men will delight in the portions that demonstrate proper methods of the art of carving. Nutritional facts are presented with convincing simplicity.

Any housewives interested in attending this show is cordially invited. It is buying meats, preparation of meats, carving and serving.

Japs Claim 5 Big Allied Vessels Sunk

By the Associated Press
Allied and Japanese warships fought to death Friday in a mammoth five-day-old battle in the Coral sea northeast of Australia in which America, British and Australian gunners have already sunk or crippled 13 enemy warships and other vessels.

United Nations headquarters announced that nine Japanese warships were sunk, including an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, two destroyers and four gunboats.

Four other enemy warships were badly damaged, a non-combat vessel sunk and two others damaged.

2 Gallons Gas Week in East

WASHINGTON —(P)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson said Friday that motorists on the eastern seaboard using their cars for non-essential driving could expect no more than three gallons of gasoline per week under the government's rationing system.

He said that this would apply to approximately a third of the cars—the cars not used for work purposes.

"With a 50 per cent cut (in gasoline supply) it is going to fall between 2 and 3 gallons a week, probably nearer 2," Henderson continued. "We still are working to see if it can be increased but I see no hope."

Army Requests Racing Data

LITTLE ROCK —(P)—Acting at the request of the Provost Marshal's office at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., the racing commission secretary, Guy Freeling, Friday notified the commanding general of the Seventh Corps Area at Omaha, Neb., that the commission would meet May 18 to consider application for Greyhound racing permit at West Memphis.

The request for information on the meet came from Capt. Alvin Howes, assistant provost marshal at Camp Wood. Freeling said Capt. Howe did not state the reason for requesting information.

Bandboys Play for Rotarians

Three members of Hope High School Band, Clifford Franks, Jr., Sammy Segnar and Kinard Young, gave a series of cornet trio numbers before Hope Rotary club Friday noon at First Christian church in celebration of National Music Week.

They appeared on a program arranged by Ted Jones, song leader of Rotary.

Three Prescott Rotarians were introduced as guests by President George W. Robinson. They were: Tom Compton, Thomas McRae and Sam Logan.

Neal Garvey of Little Rock also was a guest.

The Rev. William R. Hamilton, pastor of First Baptist church, and the Rev. James W. Middleton of San Angelo, Texas, who is conducting a revival at the local church, also were guests and appeared on the program.

Japan has an average of six earthquake tremors daily.

Many Jap Vessels Damaged
Another Japanese aircraft carrier was described as so badly hit that she must be a total loss and heavy damage on a light and heavy cruiser, a seaplane tender, a transport and a cargo ship.

Silence in both Washington and Australia after the initial announcement shrouded progress of the fight. President Roosevelt cancelled his morning press conference and the War and Navy Departments announced there would be no more.

Paul Steffy, son of W. B. Steffy of Hope, was last reported aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga.

In addition the Japanese claimed the 30,000-ton British battleship of the Warspite type was heavily damaged, perhaps sunk and the Australian cruiser of 10,000-ton Canberra type was damaged and may have gone down.

London Denies Loss of Ship

In London the admiralty quickly denied that the Warspite or any other British battleship was sunk or damaged in the Coral sea.

On the basis of Japanese claims which lacked any confirmation from any Allied sources it appeared at least a section of Admiral Leary's main Pacific fleet stationed at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, was engaged in the battle.

If so this was the first news that the U. S. Pacific squadron had set out to challenge the Japanese fleet.

All Australians awaited for news to be flashed on the outcome realizing that the fate of the commonwealth may hinge on Allied victory or defeat.

Prime Minister John Curtin declared gravely that the action was of crucial importance to the whole conduct of the war in the Far Pacific.

"Nobody can tell what the result of the engagement will be at this time," Curtin said and left the implication that an Allied defeat might lead to a Japanese invasion of Australia.

United Nations communiques declared a Japanese aircraft carrier, a heavy and light cruiser, two destroyers and four gunboats and a supply ship had been sunk.

Another Japanese aircraft carrier was described as so badly hit that she must be a total loss and heavy damage on a light and heavy cruiser, a seaplane tender, a transport and a cargo ship.

Good Pork Chops, Inferior Bristles

CLEVELAND — (AP) — American hogs produce better pork chops than bristles—and so you'd better take good care of that point brush! Says a brush manufacturer: "Only China grows the long, lean type of hog that produces good bristles. In China he is scantily fed, which causes him to grow a heavy coating of such bristles for protection. In this country we raise hogs mainly for eating. The bristles are of inferior quality."

W. S. C. S. Final Bible Study Is Held

The last meeting of the Bible Study class of the W. S. C. S. was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 at the Methodist church with Mrs.
Henry Hitt in charge of the program.

After the opening song, "Love Lifted Me," Mrs. Hitt announced her subject to be "New Testament Mileposts on the Way of Love."

The first milepost discussed by Mrs. Hitt was the Sermon on the Mount. She showed the teachings of Jesus summed up as a pathway to happiness through human relations under God's love. She mentioned the Prodigal son and the Last Supper as other examples.

In her discussion she was assisted by Mrs. Linus Walker and Mrs.
Gib Lewis.

Mrs. J. H. Arnold compared the teachings of Romans 8 and Jer. 31.
Mrs. J. A. Henry talked on several important mileposts as given in the New Testament closing with Revelation 21.

Mrs. Rachel Jordan gave a helpful devotional on the necessary qualities of the Christian ending with service which is badly needed at this time.

Mrs. Kenneth L. Spore, contralto, accompanied by Mrs. B. W.
Edwards at the piano, sang "These Come to My Heart." This concluded the series of helpful meetings.

Bay View Club in Final

retary, Mrs. Edwin Ward; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Arnold.

Before deciding the topics for the next study, suspension of club activities for the duration was discussed. It was decided to have a meeting in September for the cussion.

purpose of continuing the dis-

'International Lady' Is Thrill-Packed Drama of Modern Wartime

Adventure Film Opens Sunday at the Rialto

With George Brent, Ilona Massey and Basil Rathbone in the top starring roles, Edward Small's "International Lady," a thrill-packed spy melodrama highlighting the activities of a gang of international saboteurs, will have its local premier at the Rialto Theater on Sunday through United Artists release. Based on the screenplay written by E. Lloyd Sheldon and Jack De Witt and directed by Tim Whelan, "International Lady" unfolds its dramatic action in London, Lisbon and New York. The supporting cast in the film features Gene Lockhart and George Zucco.

Briefly, the story of "International Lady" concerns the activities of a stunning radio singer who is suspected of belonging to a sabotage ring bent on crippling the flow of American planes to England. The FBI in Washington and Scotland Yard in London both assign detectives to shadow the young lady in an attempt to discover the high-ups. This job starts in London, shifts to Lisbon where they embark upon the Clipper Ship and winds up in New York. How the gang is finally rounded up provides the film with many thrilling sequences and a smashing, suspense-filled climax.

Brilliant Settings

Among the forty odd settings constructed for "International Lady" is a huge Long Island mansion. There is a drawing room sixty feet long and thirty feet wide with marble columns and brocade panels and a fireplace big enough to house a Boy Scout camping troop. There is an entrance hall and foyer and curving staircase, all of them impressive enough to interest and thrill. Twin cut-glass torches—turned upside down—grace the foyer and the library is something out of Buckingham Palace but a 1,700,000 tons less because France has fallen.

During World War I our principal oceanic supply line was only about 3000 miles long. Now we must transport material 4000 miles to Russia, 10,000 miles to Australia, 12,000 miles to Egypt and Libya.

These long hauls expose our vessels more to submarine attack. They triple the time required to carry a cargo to its destination and get back for another.

In World War I 3.5 gross tons of cargo capacity were required for each soldier we serviced in France.

In view of the long haul and modern mechanization, this figure has been multiplied several times. Probably nobody will argue that we can get by, in World War II, with less than 10 gross tons of capacity for each soldier in our expeditionary forces.

Such a computation can not be authoritative. But it can point the way to three conclusions:

First, we need more shipping, fast, with which to bring raw materials into the United States.

Second, we need more shipping, fast, with which to transport and service the expeditionary forces that eventually will defeat Hitler and the Japs.

Third, civilians must cheerfully accept transfer to war use of every possible ton of cargo space, and must pass up everything dispensable which would divert shipping that is badly needed for the benefit of United Nations fighting forces.

Hot gas from wells in the desert near Salton Sea, Calif., has temperatures which skyrocket to dizzy heights. Much dry ice is produced here.

Canada produced 1,500,000 gallons of apple juice in 1939, with about one-half of its production coming from three plants in the province of Nova Scotia.

Little Newer.

Listed among the other important sets are a row of buildings in Berkeley Square, the Pan-American terminal in Lisbon, the Trans-Atlantic Clipper and the F. B. I. offices in New York. Seven pianos were used in the picture to build up background in a radio broadcast scene, but only one of the pianos was used to make music.

CRAFTY BALDY

CHAPTER XXI

"It's like this," Nigel had found out all he could from Baldy before calling a meeting. "She wanted a chance. Baldy thought she was at least as good as average from what he saw last night and that there was a possibility she might be better. She wanted a break and he's spotted a job in the chorus line of some dump in New York."

"Did he tell you the name?"

"No. Some cheap place, probably on the East Side."

Fay was thoughtful. "Baldy knows every joint in town, the good as well as the dumps, but I don't see how he could get her anything as easily as that unless it is a hole in the wall. I'll find out about it."

Michael turned to her with a slow smile. "He's after your blood too. Maybe Baldy isn't bad on the surface, but underneath he's just plain parasite."

"You read my thoughts," muttered Myra. Her face was gloomy. "I knew I was taking a risk when I brought her out of the cotton-wool, but who'd have thought she could find trouble up here?"

"Wait till Danny hears about this," said Michael with a rueful smile. "He'll go after Baldy with a gun."

"And he'll blame me," said Myra. "Danny is the father of the Mack family," she announced to the others. "Noted for his impulsiveness rather than his forethought when it comes to disciplinary action on his family."

"What shall we do?" said Nigel. "Simple enough," said Michael. "Spike his guns. Stop him and we stop her. But why shouldn't she have her chance?"

"A chance is all right," Fay's voice was serious. "But she is only a kid and she'll be starting the hard way. Believe me, I've seen so much of it. I was lucky and went the easy way, but I wouldn't want a sister of mine to have the hard road. Baldy is straight enough. He does his best according to his lights. But I don't like his lights. Neither would you."

It is estimated that one out of every 1,000 persons in the U. S. suffers from rheumatism and allied diseases.

"The point is," said Nigel, "we ought to solve this thing so that nobody is hurt—pleasant feelings all round and all that kind of thing."

Michael grinned at Nigel. "You and I could fix Baldy."

"What about Peggy?"

"She'll have to lump it," said Myra. "Why do I always land in other people's troubles? They chase me even when I'm trying to get a vacation."

"Can't be helped," said Michael. "Any suggestions for a plan?"

IN the house Baldy wiped the perspiration from his brow. It gave him a sense of power and fulfillment to be working over an act again, even if it was with the greenest of green kids. The idea was glimmering in his brain that through Peggy he could hold on to Fay. How or why he did not as yet know, but since they all were up here together they must be linked some way—maybe relatives—and if he was going to get Fay over this run-out spell he would have to play every card in his bag of tricks.

"That's swell, kid," he said at last. "In that line-up that Benny's got you'll stick out like green grass in a bunch of dried hay. He'll have to pull you out in your own act or fire you, and that's your funeral. Come on, let's go over that again."

Then Marie came in and Peggy paused. "Have you seen any of the others, Marie?" she asked. Marie said that she thought she had seen them all going into the rockery.

Peggy stopped. A warning signal flashed in her brain. At home, whenever the family gathered in conference it meant trouble for someone.

"Wait for me, Baldy," she said, and slipped out of the room, through the kitchen and out of the back of the house.

PEGGY made her way cautiously to the back of the rockery which was screened from the house by bushes. Here she looked and listened. She ran back to the house a little later and grabbed a surprised Baldy by the arm.

ing communiques.

The word of Prime Minister Curtin in Australia that loss of the battle would decide the war opened two interpretations—a warning to the country of the possibility of a greater fight or that he was preparing the ground for a later announcement of bad news.

For the week the Allies had preponderance of victorious claims, but for the period since their defeat Monday the Japanese claim of successes, which if true, might mean they brought up additional strength and in the later stages were recouping.

Claim of three capital ships sunk, one damaged and a cruiser if verified cast a grave shadow over Allied hopes in the second phase of the battle.

General MacArthur's headquarters reporting American successes in the second phase, presumably after it reached the Coral sea Thursday announced:

"Heavy naval and air fighting continued. Our own losses are not reported."

Each person is permitted to miss two classes during the course, but the work missed must be brought up.

Much interest has been shown in each class and it is hoped classes in First Aid and Home Nursing will be taught throughout the year. Nevada county's quota is 198 certificates.

Much praise and appreciation is
